Summary

I am a web developer with a strong sense of community, team cooperation and coordination. With extensive experience in education and in graphic design, I strive towards the goal of project manager or team lead. Working with others and supporting my team has always been one of my core strengths. My current interests are in developing web applications that adapt curriculum to functioning web applications. I firmly believe in adapting to new concepts and difficult situations in order to create learning environments and resource guides for the future learners and educators. If there is a role needed to be filled in order to ensure positive outcomes for the team and or company, I am willing to charge forward and do what is needed to guarantee success.
